Deep in this black and murky void we call life there ~~is~~ lives the minstrel of inspiration who plays the music of our ageless souls which helps on our way down the endless path of perception (one way or another). This path leads to the mountains of awareness. It passes through the plain of delusion which is dotted with forests of creativity, and mirth, and jest.

But since none of this has a whole lot to do with anyone, I just want to wish you a real trippy experience, or life or both.

THE 1982 CUB

VOLUME XXXXI
UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL
LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY

AMY CAZES, EDITOR
PATTI EXNER, ADVISOR
JOHN BEARDEN, COVER ARTIST

LOOK: THE UNIQUE STORY OF PEOPLE . .

From August 24th to February 16th, the Cub offers its readers "the unique story of people: what they do, what they feel, what they want, what they think."

EITHER A MOMENT OF DISGUST, or a pensive thought.

The Cub opens diverse windows onto the events of the past year by highlighting the many aspects that have affected our lives; from the first day of school's assembly to the graduation exercises, U-High's story is told.

The Cub is most simply a collection of memorable photographs and words. It is a probing, searching, often funny "story of the unique people at U-High," beautifully designed and dramatically told. The Cub staff, led by Amy Cazes, editor, and Patti Exner, advisor, has given generously of its time and talents. Its efforts have been amply repaid, for if there is one over-riding feeling communicated in this yearbook, it is one of the uniqueness of University High.

PEP RALLIES INVOLVE EVEN the youngest Cub fans.

EVERYONE GETS INVOLVED AT U-HIGH as parents and students prove at the Spaghetti Supper.

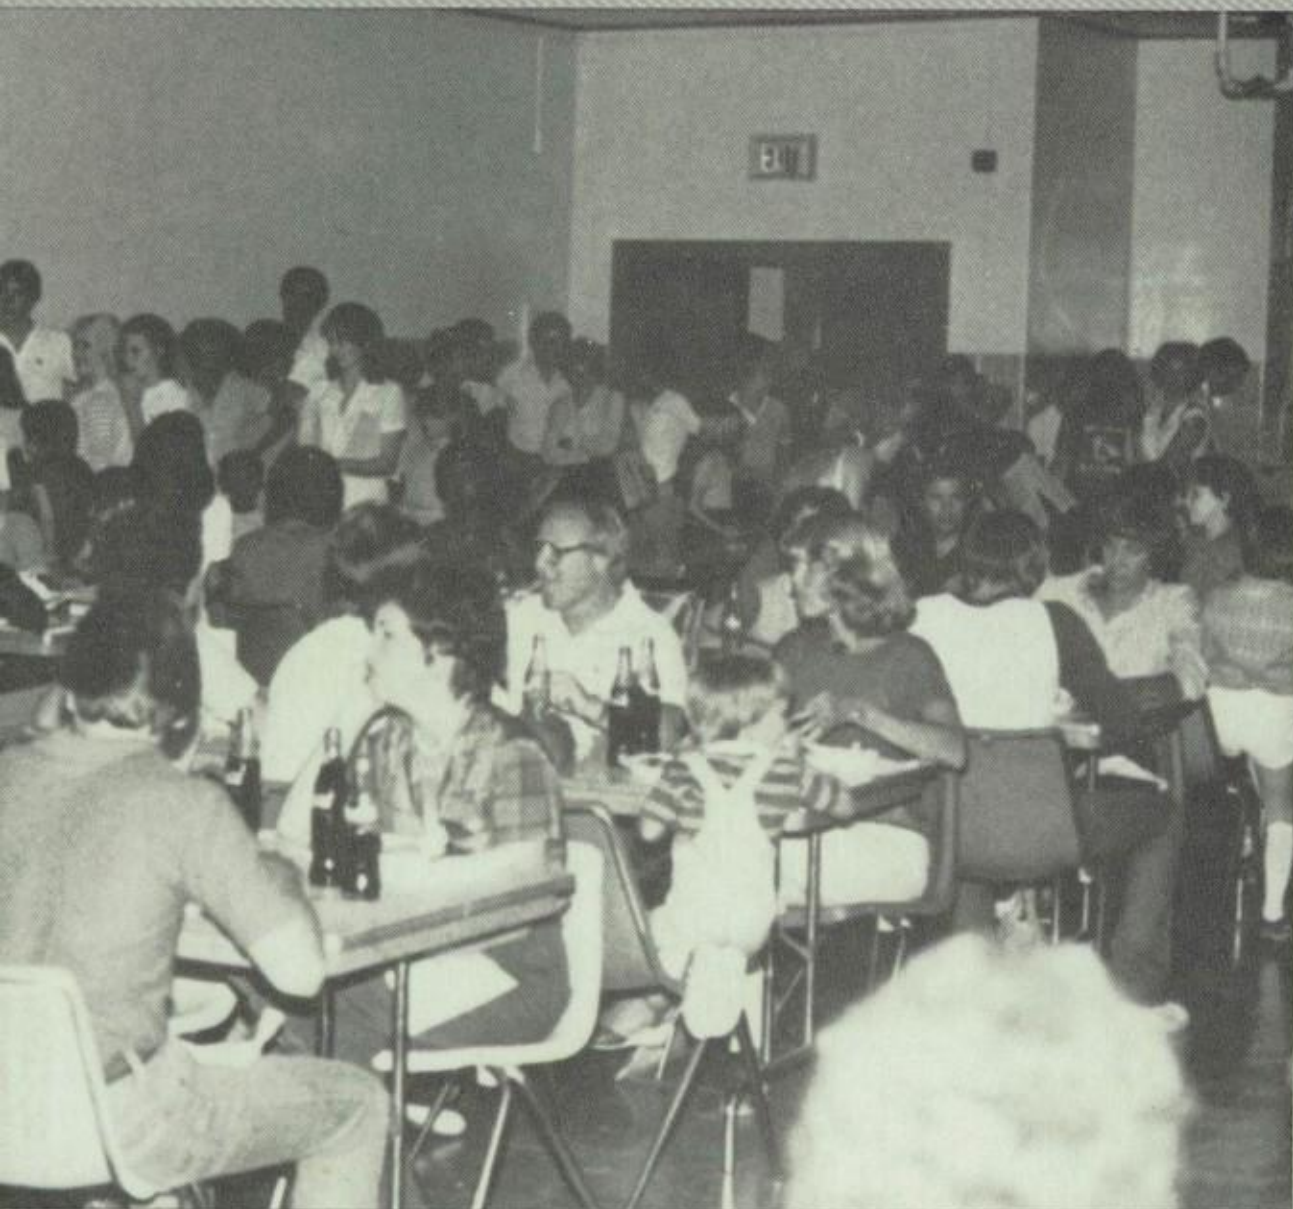

Hey! What's up? Nothing much here. Well
 It's too bad you broke your leg this year but I'm sure you enjoy the sympathy.
 Call me over the summer and we can opt together or something. I'm so glad - no more Mrs. Woods yet.
 Well gotta go, Love, Ashley

LISE SHOWS HER DISTASTE FOR SOME-THING as she so tactfully sticks out her ton-

ASHLEY AND LIZ DID SUCH A GOOD JOB of acting surprised! (Notice their wide open mouths and startled faces!)

 ARE
 NO. 1

"THESE DOGGONE BUGS!" A common sentiment felt by all sophomore students at one time or another.

JUNIOR HIGH students share lunches.

Hey! This year has been so fun!! I've loved getting to be better friends this year!! You are such a good friend and have been for a long time!! It wasn't a total blast!! We'll go to the gym!! Love lots

FINDING TIME TO REST: Troy Somager relaxes on the bleachers.

LAUREN McINNIS shows us her artistic talent by painting a face on a pumpkin?

A BEVY OF BEAUTIES bedazzles our photographer.

WHAT THEY DO . . .

WITH THOSE DEVILISH LOOKS, Joni and Jocelyn "shoot" the photographer.

(Due to the fact that the yearbook is sent in for publication in early February of 1982, the editor chose to recap the year 1981.)

Bang! Bang! Bang!

March 30. May 13. October 6.

Washington. Rome. Cairo.

Gunfire rang out. Three world leaders fell wounded, one mortally.

There had always been threats and bungled assassination attempts. But 1981 was a year bullets struck flesh.

Reagan. John Paul II. Sadat.

Not since 1968 had those in the public eye been made so aware of the perilous life they lead — waving to crowds, speaking to large groups, always wearing a bullseye — and the importance of security.

The year ended with reports that Libya-trained hit squads roamed the world with orders to kill American officials, including the President.

But all of that happened long after January 20, the biggest news day of the year. In early afternoon, Reagan was inaugurated as the 40th President, and word arrived that the American hostages in Iran were being freed.

"SENIORS DO KNOW HOW TO READ," boast Chris, Charlotte, and Jay.

WHAT THEY FEEL . . .

Four hundred forty-four days of captivity ended in a yellow-ribboned welcome for the 52 at West Point, N.Y. However, turmoil continued in Iran. Bombs killed officials and officials killed bombmakers by the hundreds.

A more personal story for Americans was the tumult in Poland. There were food shortages, negotiations between the Solidarity independent labor movement and the government, and a government shakeup.

Then suddenly, on a cold Saturday in December, there was martial law.

Thousands of union leaders and dissidents were arrested, communication was cut off, and a curfew imposed. The spectre of Soviet intervention loomed. The question for 1982: Will Solidarity survive?

But America at the same time cheered another foreign story — the July marriage of Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, and Lady Diana Spencer. And, in November, Buckingham Palace announced that a royal birth was expected in the spring.

The year 1981 was a year of landmarks . . .

The space shuttle Columbia, the first spaceship intended for roundtrips to and from space, made two test flights that each time ended with perfect landings on the California desert.

Voyager II, an unmanned spacecraft, zoomed by Saturn, sending back the best photographs ever taken of the solar system's sixth planet.

Reagan kept a campaign promise, and Sandra Day O'Connor, an appeals court judge and former legislator in Arizona, became the first woman on the Supreme Court.

But the Equal Rights Amendment, with the June, 1982, extended deadline looming, did not win any more states and remained shy of the two-thirds needed for ratification.

The year 1981 was a year of new faces and new ideas . . .

Ronald Reagan used his landslide victory to win spending cuts.

It came to be called supply-side economics, or Reaganomics, a marriage of spending cuts and tax cuts that would revive businesses and hence the economy, and drag down inflation and interest rates and eventually unemployment. Or so they said most of the time.

Conservatism reigned in America, but left-leaning leaders were making strides elsewhere. Francois Mitterand, a Socialist, became prime minister of France. Andreas Papandreou, of the Panhellenic Socialist Movement, became premier in Greece. (Copy continued in the closing.)

DON'T YOU SOMETIMES feel like an oddball?

THESE SEVENTH AND EIGHTH GRADERS succumb to those feelings of boredom.

THAT FACE SHOWS the feelings of anguish and despair.

TALK ABOUT FEELING CONFINED? Check them out!

PEOPLE

Nothing in nature is more unique than the human face. It is the stage for our emotions. Our features express an astonishing range of feeling: rapture, rage, passion, horror, and the countless nuances of friendship, fear, love, and hate.

Here is a gallery of faces, more eloquent than words, which would have fascinated Rembrandt.

SENIORS: IN ACTION!

SENIOR SPIRIT sparkles throughout Spirit Week.

AS CANTERBURY PILGRIMS, Charles and Leigh make a holy couple.

SENIORS ARE ALWAYS in front of the camera.

CAUGHT IN A MOMENT OF MEDITATION, Robin displays her model's profile.

KEVIN THE KILLER SAYS . . . "Laugh and I'll kill ya."

CHARLOTTE'S DREAMS come true during Spirit Week.

OUTCHEERING THE CHEERLEADERS, Mike spends his time in midair.

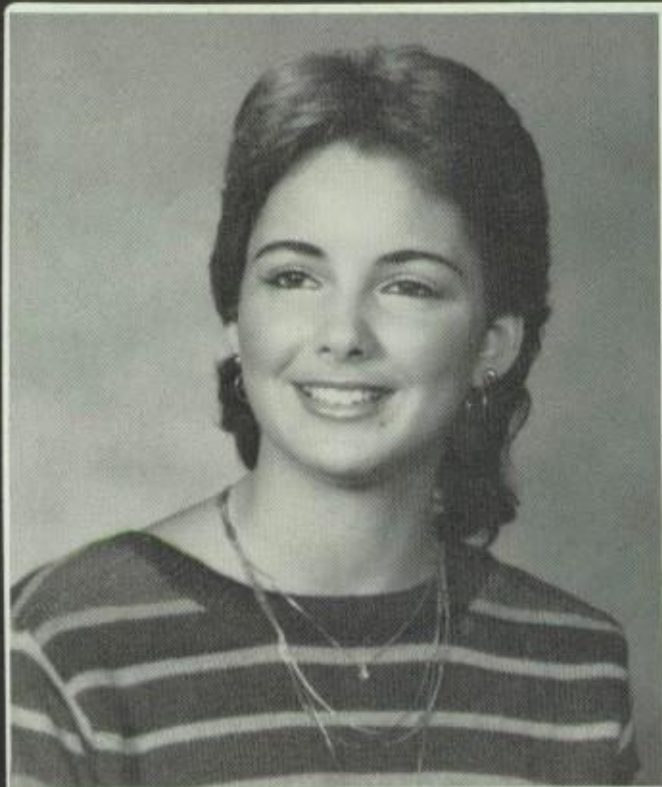

BRIAN AND DENNIS try their hands at being seniors.

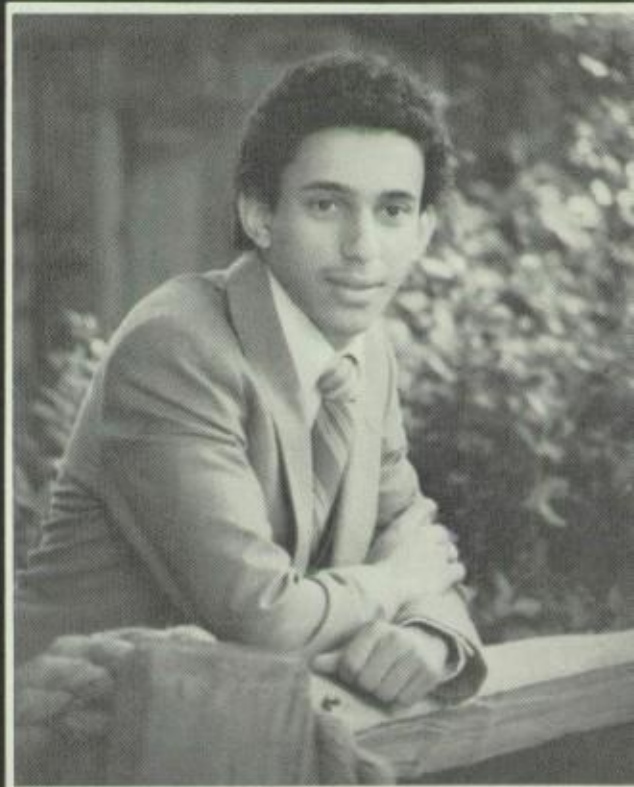

MORE MAFIA? I tell ya I can't take it anymore!

The Senior Class has many meetings during the course of the school year. At one of those meetings, twelve seniors were chosen to represent the Senior Class as Senior Specials. One senior asked at the meeting, "What exactly is a Senior Special?" Another replied, "It is someone who has contributed of his/her time to better the Senior Class and the 1982 school year." The vote was in, and the twelve seniors on these two pages were elected to represent "the best" of the 1982 Senior Class.

The Senior Specials this year "traveled" to Tiger Town to have their picture taken. Try to guess just where they went.

AMY CAZES, Cub editor, and KYLE BAKER, Collage editor. (Thanks, Round the Corner.)

JUNIOR HIGH —

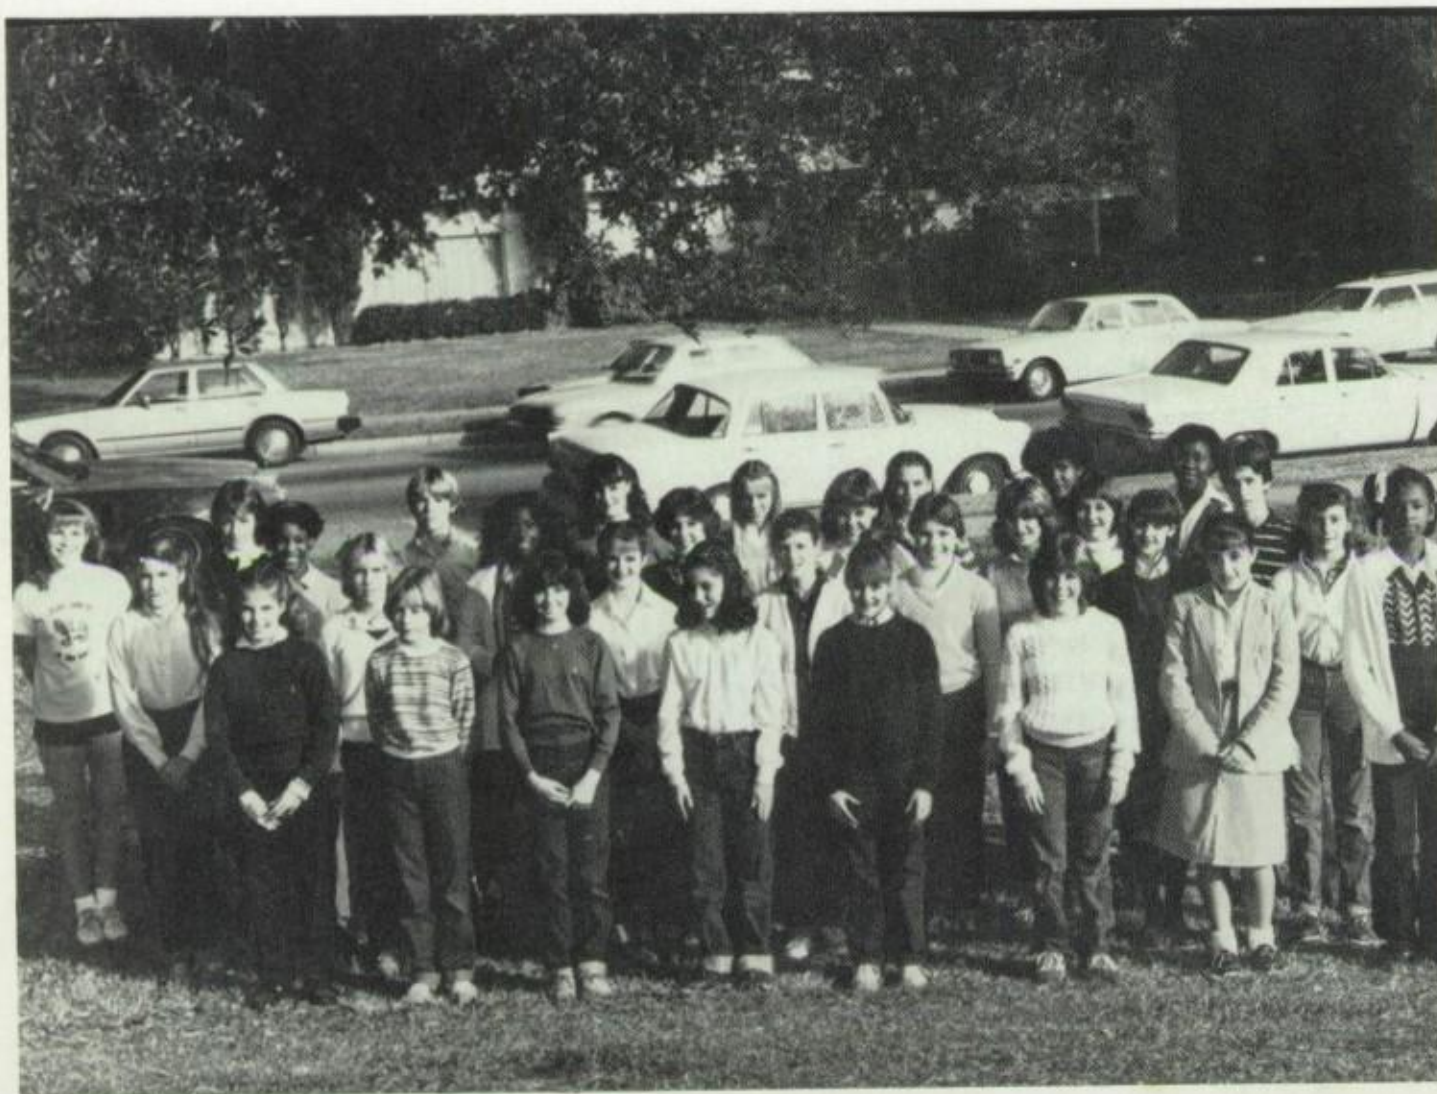

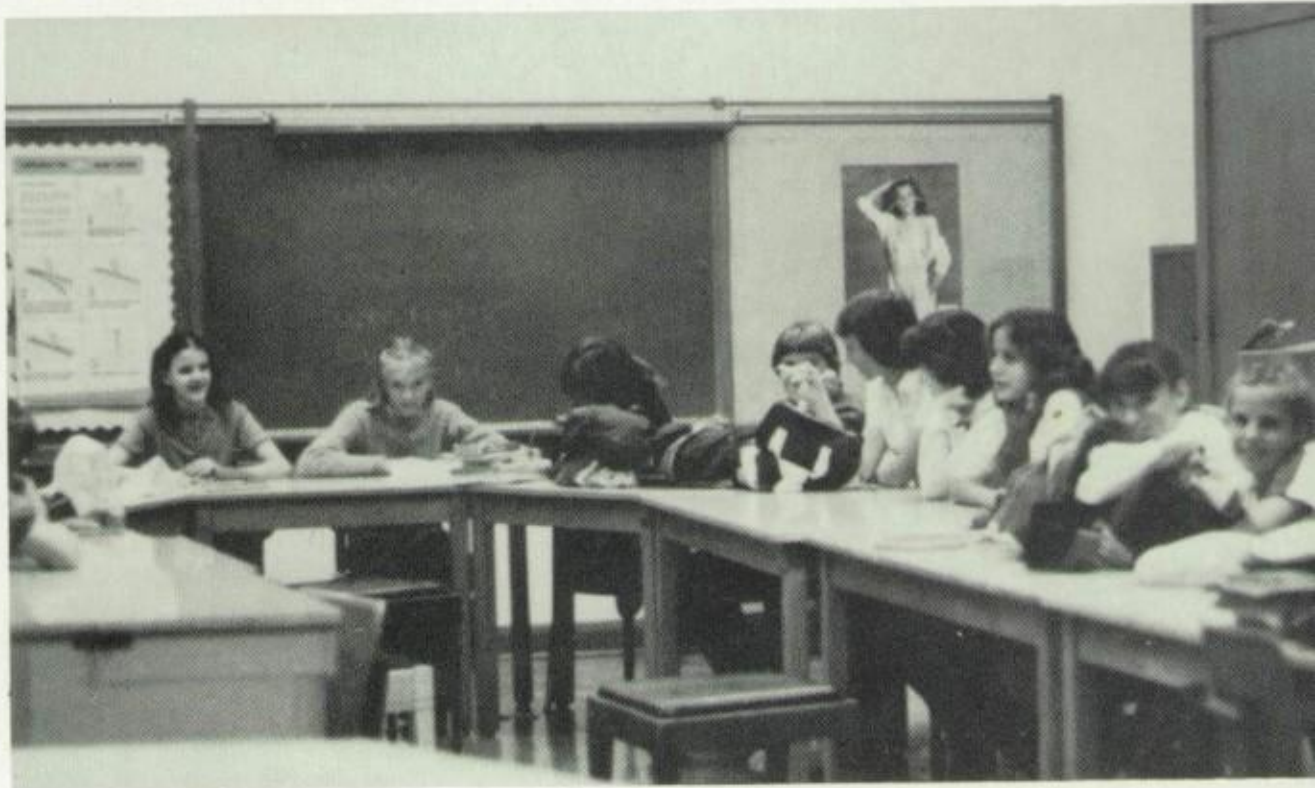

Some people might think that graduating from college is when life really begins, but some people at U-High have found that not to be necessarily true. The seventh and eighth grades have found "life" early. One new club that has made a smashing success at U-High is Junior High 4-H. The purpose of 4-H is the development of the boy or girl into useful citizens with worthy purposes in life. 4-H provides training in skills, leadership, and citizenship. Julie Brittenum is the president of 4-H with assistance from club advisor, Mr. Guillot.

Another successful club in junior high is the extension of FHA into the eighth grade. Junior FHA is open to all eighth grade girls to allow them to experience what it is like to be in a club that is similar to a high school organization. Susie Quinn is the president of Junior FHA. With the help of Lauren McInnis, FHA 2nd Vice-President, Jr. FHA has a large and active membership.

It is the opinion of this writer that people in junior high have many advantages over those of us who are older and in high school. The freedom from responsibilities is great, there are less pressures, and many more reasons that Junior High students should enjoy their years in the seventh and eighth grades.

"There's Nothing Better!"

THEY'RE IN A CLASS BY THEMSELVES

Who shall rule? How? How much? This has always been the distinctive problem of human society: the animal kingdom knows no politics.

The will to power governs those who govern us: kings, popes, presidents, generals, principals, and teachers. "The Power" at UHS is used with vision and compassion. It elevates our values. It also enforces justice.

The men and women who appear on the following pages wield power for our good. All exemplify Shakespeare's famous statement: "Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them."

Teachers, defined by Webster's Dictionary to mean one who teaches or instructs especially as an occupation; one who instructs skillfully. But the teachers at University High School surpass this definition. They are in a class by themselves.

A teacher is very influential in a student's life. A breed of people who mold us, they try to prepare students to be the best possible citizens that they can be. A good teacher will "push" a student to always work harder. Those good teachers make "A" students strive harder and the "C" students establish the necessary goals.

Engineers, doctors, lawyers, administrators, teachers — many times the teacher succeeds and molds a person into someone of substance. A teacher's dedication can be compared to an athlete's desire to win. The dedication — the desire — never stops. This is characteristic of the teachers at U-High. From the science department to the English department to the math department (as in every department), U-High has teachers that specialize in dedication. These teachers are also friends with the students.

This quality, seen in U-High's teachers, makes them very unique. Another quality that makes U-High's teachers and administrators unique is their education. All teachers at the Lab School have graduate degrees in education. This higher standard causes the students to automatically receive a better education.

The CUB Staff would like to say a much deserved "Thank You" to all of the teachers and administrators at University High School. NO ONE COULD DO IT BETTER!

WHAT'S THE MATTER, Mr. Tucker? You don't understand the kids of today?

WHEN ASKED "How do you spell 'RELIEF'?" Dr. Hair replies, "ROLAIDS!"

DOING HIS DAILY paperwork, Mr. Garner prepares to recruit juniors/seniors for the army.

NEVER QUITTING HIS work, Mr. Guillot avidly helps his students.

MRS. JUDICE! You told us that you didn't like to be in pictures.

THOSE WONDERFUL TEACHERS. Who said they never had fun?

LEADING US IN song, Mrs. Hallman shows the CUB fans how to sing.

CAUGHT BY SURPRISE, Mrs. Exner did not want this picture in the yearbook. (But it's going in anyway!)

SETTING UP HER new library, Ms. Hurst turns her back to the noisy students.

WORKING IN THE lunchroom all day long, Mrs. Chappell is never too tired to help out.

THE LEADERS

All school activities are coordinated through the Student Council. From the opening day assembly and freshman orientation until graduation night, the Student Council plans and struggles to see that things run smoothly.

The council is made up of the officers and an elected representative from each class of grades 9 through 12. Also, each club and organization sends their highest elected officer to be a member. The Student Council is the liaison between students and faculty. The council is the sponsor for the Winter Formal, U-High's largest dance, and Homecoming activities. In addition, this year the council will sponsor the annual carnation sales on Valentine's Day.

Four members, Matthew Roberts, Robin Norman, Michelle Garon, and Bradley Aucoin, participated in the Louisiana Association Student Council Convention in Alexandria. This year U-High has seen a very productive and successful Student Council take charge.

The Seniors said it would happen, and it did. Victory was on every Senior's lips as Dr. Fox announced the winners. This year's Spirit Week was like none before it. Spirit was extremely high and felt throughout the class competition. The different categories of competition included Junior Olympics, costumes, cheer, posters, and locker stickers. Everyone enjoyed the spirit seen in the students throughout the week. Congratulations, Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen on a fine showing.

UNIVERSITY HIGH HOLDS BEST HOMECOMING EVER!

The 1981 University High School Homecoming Queen was senior Susie Wood. Homecoming activities began with the selection of maids by various classes. The senior class was allowed to elect three maids, and the entire student body voted on these girls to decide who would reign as queen over the Homecoming activities. Rachel Kean and Maxie Sullivan were the other two senior maids. Other maids were Wendy Woodland, Junior Class Maid; Angie Bivin, Sophomore Class Maid; and Shannon Field, Freshman Class Maid.

The Student Council coordinated the Homecoming activities with assistance from the following clubs: Art Club, Hi-Y Club, Key Club, Uniteens, and FHA.

The first special event was a barbecue supper held the evening before Homecoming in the courtyard. Following the supper, the Queen and her court were presented at the Homecoming Pep Rally.

Homecoming Day all CUB supporters arrived at school early to attend the FHA-sponsored Pep Breakfast. At noon, a final pep rally honoring the football team was held. All students were invited to attend the Homecoming Dance the following night. Musical entertainment was provided by Chip Bankston, Inc.

KEY CLUBBERS

Pursue Tomorrow's Potential

The Key Club is primarily a service club, serving the home, school, and community. Sponsored by the Capitol City Kiwanis Club, the group works to develop initiative and leadership. It strives to build better citizenship by providing opportunities for participation in school and community services.

The Key Club's theme for this year was "Pursue Tomorrow's Potential." In keeping with this theme, the club has planned a year filled with many responsibilities. Planned activities include spending a day with the youth in Blundon Home and assisting with the annual Kiwanis Club sale of Christmas trees.

Many of their avenues of service are associated with athletic events. Each year members cheerfully accept the responsibility of cleaning Bernie Moore Stadium after the football games, preparing the concession stand for athletic events, printing and selling game rosters, and setting up the tables for the Homecoming Supper. The Key Club Convention is also a major part of the busy year of a member of the Key Club.

MR. TUCKER (Key Club advisor) says that he never understand the wild and crazy guys in the club he advises.

FRIENDS IN

Though it's membership is small, Hi-Y is fast becoming one of the major organizations at U-High. It is a fellowship and service organization sponsored by the YMCA. The primary objective of this club is to promote good fellowship among boys through the YMCA's principles.

Areas of service this year include co-sponsorship of a Values Emphasis Week at school and assisting in football stadium clean-up and homecoming activities. This year Hi-Y members were involved in Disabled Persons Day, and members guided tours of the Greater Baton Rouge Zoo's security system. The biggest activity of the club was their hosting of the Pre-Leg I, a preliminary to the highlight of all Louisiana's Hi-Ys, the Youth Legislature. Under the leadership of Blance Bankston, Hi-Y president, and the help of Dr. Fabre, club advisor, the members of Hi-Y had a successful year and look forward to many more.

THEY'RE UNITED TO SERVE

GOOFING OFF AT Uniteens meetings is common practice by everyone.

Uniteens is an independent high school girls' service organization that was founded in 1968 at U-High. Its purpose is to unite a group of girls with a common desire to grow in awareness of today's world. This awareness is expressed through the club's activities to aid both its school and community.

The group assisted the American Legion in its annual sale of poppies of LSU Homecoming Day for the benefit of Disabled American Veterans. They also collected Halloween candy for the Baton Rouge Head Start Association.

During the UHS football season club members assisted the school's boy clubs with stadium clean up. At Sadie Hawkins Day, the Uniteens sponsored an ice-cream booth. During Thanksgiving they held a canned food drive.

On the lighter side, the Uniteens had numerous parties, such as the Happy-Un-Birthday Party, Banana Split Party, Valentine's Party, and End-Of-The-Year Party. But the favorite event of all was Peanut Pal Week when every member secretly had a "pal" that she brought gifts to. This year proved to be one of the very best for this girls' service organization.

Under the leadership of Kristin Baron and Mrs. Mary Jones (FHA Advisor), FHA discovered many heights this year. A first for FHA was the Home Economics department Fashion Show in the fall. RFD sponsored the clothes to be modeled and make-up and hair design were compliments of Lockworks Hair Design. FHA also sponsored a booth at Sadie Hawkins and the Homecoming Pep Breakfast. In conjunction with Uniteens, Key Club, and Hi-Y, FHA gave the janitors, cooks, and maids turkeys for Christmas. In the spring a car wash was held, members represented U-High at the FHA district meeting in Hammond, and a trip was taken to New Orleans. This past year has been one of the best for FHA members.

TOGETHER — WE HAVE

STAFF MEMBERS GATHER around to "try" to decide what's the best thing to do.

Just like the mailmen, the yearbook staff must deliver. Through rain, hail, sleet, and snow, they work from August through February to assure every U-High student the best possible coverage of the school year. Under the watchful "advising" eye of Mrs. Patti Exner and the "editing" eye of Amy Cazes, twenty high school students committed themselves to produce an accurate and interesting yearbook.

Every Wednesday afternoon, members met to fulfill their commitments. With pictures, artwork, and advice always needed, members searched for the best materials available. And many times they came up with the best materials around. The Yearbook Staff sincerely hopes that everyone who bought a yearbook will be pleased with what he has received!

"BOY, LOOK AT this yearbook. It's got color!" shouts one yearbook member who wishes that our yearbook could have color.

"The Title Says It All!"

This year's French Club members enjoyed many exciting events and activities. The annual Ring Toss at Sadie Hawkins was a smashing success as always. A French and Spanish Club dinner held at Tara Hebert's home with foreign guests from Baton Rouge High brought lots of excitement. The French Club sent several delegates to the state wide French Club Convention, which was held at Bellemont Hotel here in Baton Rouge, where French dances and activities were learned. The Club also had its annual Christmas Party, another enjoyable evening. The French Club members got together and exchanged gifts, and the members also cooked French dishes for the occasion.

JETS FLY THROUGH A NEW YEAR

As president of the JETS club, I hope to run a very active organization. We have planned many field trips and guest speakers for the course of the school year. Ms. Ater allows two days of each month to be devoted to JETS activities. One activity, our annual rocket-shooting ceremony, took place in November. We used two physics class periods to build the rockets and on a third day we had a picnic to fire the rockets. Many lectures and field trips have also contributed greatly to the class' understanding of physics.

The purpose of the JETS is to see demonstrations of physics concepts which we have learned in class in actual use in society. By studying these practical applications of physics, students can more fully understand the information which is studied in physics. The officers working with me this year are Kevin Bankston, Vice-President; Mark Ott, Treasurer; and Christina Porche, Secretary.

Rick Thomas
JETS President

THIS YEAR'S PHYSICS class has been the laziest ever: they always seem to be able to get out of their assignments and make time to goof off.

AFTER A LONG day's work, Ms. Ater is ready to throw in the chalk.

THOSE "ARTISTICALLY" INCLINED STUDENTS

CHARLOTTE DAVES MIXES the paint so that she can paint students' faces at the Sadie Hawkins Art Club booth.

Art Club members were put to the test this year. The Club's many artistic members had many chores ahead of them in 1981 and 1982. The Art Club decorated the back drop for the Homecoming Dance. Also for Homecoming, the members drew pastel portraits of the court. At Sadie Hawkins the Club set up a booth to paint on people. With Charlotte Daves painting "Polos" on everyone's faces, the booth made a lot of money. At Christmas, the Art Club won the city wide competition of McDonald's window paintings. They helped the Student Council members in decorating the Cotillion Ballroom for Winter Formal, and they also held their Art Show in the spring. What a busy year.

"NO! I TOLD you I don't want my picture taken," replies Art Club advisor Mr. Davis. Someone might think that he is a criminal or something.

With all that Mrs. Hallman does as a teacher, one might think that she would do a good job with the Jazz Choir and the Choir. But Mrs. Hallman does a fantastic job! With Kyle Baker helping her, she keeps the choir singing all the time. Activities of the choir include its fall performance for the school, its participation in festival, and its production of a musical in the spring. This year marked the second musical that the Choir has presented. "Trial by Jury," written by Gilbert and Sullivan, promised to be a "hum-dinger."

This year a new department was added to the Choir. A Jazz Choir consisting of twelve members was established. The Jazz Choir performed at the Faculty Club for LSU's Homecoming and at nursing homes around the Baton Rouge area. This past year the Choir sounded better than ever and promises to become better in future years.

HORNS, PERCUSSIONS, WOODWINDS —

Every day during seventh hour one can find the Concert Band "hard" at work learning new songs or polishing old ones. Dr. Choate managed to direct a very rambunctious group of students who, when they put their minds to it, could play together as a band magnificently. With Charles McKenzie as Band president, the Concert Band lived up to its impeccable record at the Solo and Ensemble Festival. At Christmas the Band performed flawlessly for everyone at the Christmas concert. Band members sold candy to raise money for a trip to be taken in the spring. They also gave another performance for the school in the spring.

WHO PROVIDES THE SPIRIT AT FOOTBALL GAMES? THE MARCHING BAND DOES!

UHS DRUM MAJOR: Jayne Hammons.

The Marching Band had a fabulous year! Their hard work was evident through the songs they played so well. They learned many new songs: "Hot Lunch Jam," "Celebration," "Lady," "Valencia El Grande," "Theme From New York, New York," and "Scufflin." The band accompanied the Majorettes and the Dance Group at all home games and some away games, too.

Spirit was shown through the year. An example of the enthusiasm band members had was evident when one of the senior percussionists in the band composed a new tune which the other members named "Matthew's Theme" (after the composer, naturally). Traveling to all of the out-of-town games, the Marching Band boosted the CUBS to victory many times.

Leading the Marching Band this year was Drum Major Jayne Hammons. Dr. Choate choreographed the band's halftime performances with the assistance of two student teachers, Mike Breaux and Valerie Hart.

"WE WANT MORE PLAYING TIME!"

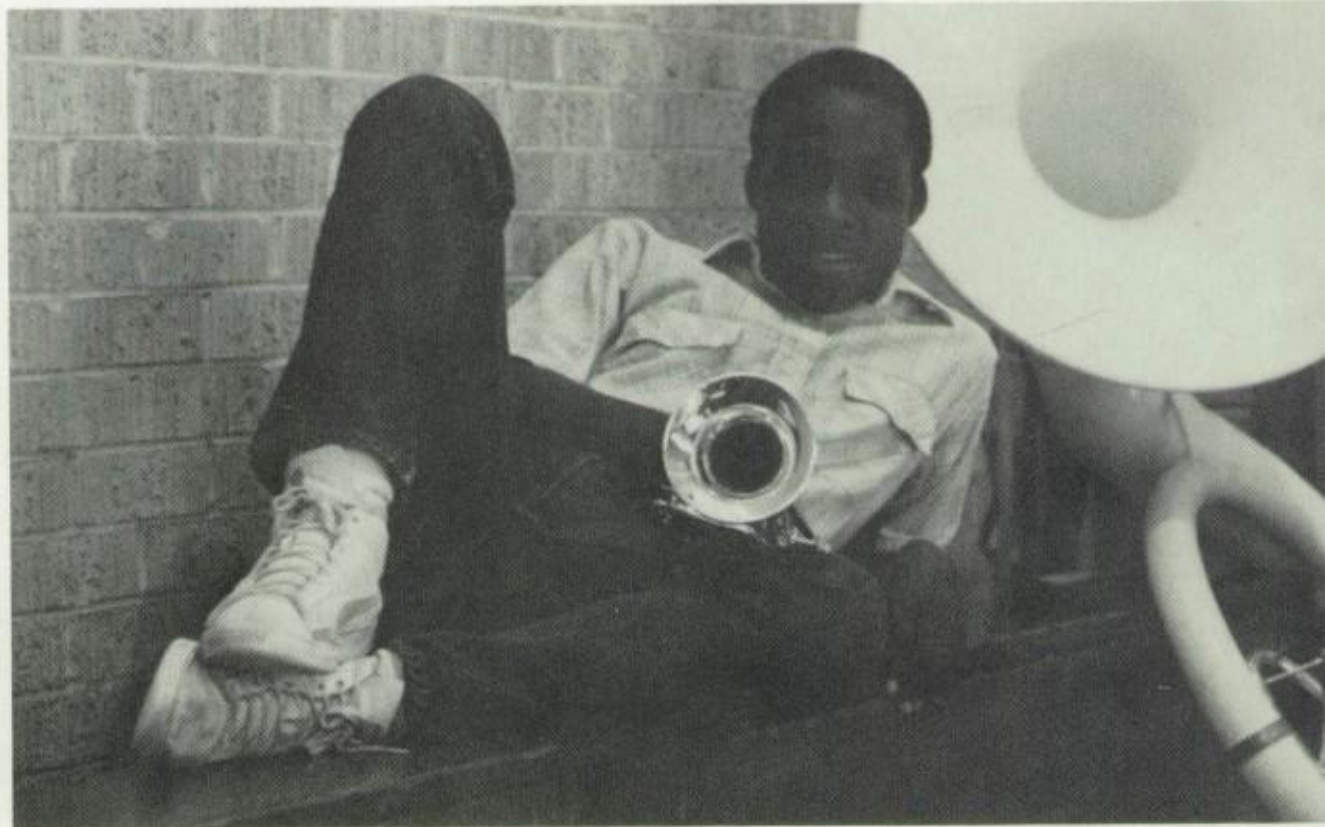

WAITING FOR THE pep rally to start, a very laid back Marc Pero has nothing better to do than have his picture taken.

"We want more playing time!" and "No Pay, No Play!" are just two of the many slogans that the Pep Band used this year to convey the message that they are tired of being taken for granted. The Pep Band, under the leadership of Jayne Hammons, felt that it was in a sense being "used" at pep rallies. Its outcries of "foul play" were heard, and cheerleaders responded by letting Pep Band play more at pep rallies. Much to everyone's satisfaction, the Pep Band's complaints paid off, and those crazy Pep Band members sounded better than ever.

"It takes a controlled person to handle a baton," says one majorette who knows it is tough. Being a majorette takes much patience as well as skill. This year the majorettes enjoyed a very successful year. One new thing that they introduced to the school was their new nighttime uniforms. The new uniform was a big smash with everyone. The majorettes also did more than just perform flawlessly; they also made locker stickers for every marching band member. While performing at every home football game and some pep rallies, the majorettes twirled their way into everyone's hearts this year.

A DAZZLE OF DANCERS

In the spring of 1981, the Dance Group for the next year had been chosen. Eight girls found a bond of friendship that lasted the entire dancing season, and beyond. In June, the dancers drove to New Orleans to a dance camp on the Tulane University campus. This exciting adventure began the hard work that the Dance Group was soon to discover. They were asked to perform in the Holmes Back-To-School Fashion Show, and the Dance Group supported the CUBS by performing many new styles of dance at all home games, some pep rallies, and the football play-off games. This year two of the most memorable dances were the punk dance at a pep rally to "Adam and the Ants" and the Homecoming dance to "New York, New York" in tuxedos, compliments of Cohn Turner Formal Wear. One Dance Group member summed it up best when she said, "Dancing with the girls this year made my senior year a real treat!"

A BATCH OF BUSY, BUBBLY BOOSTERS

The Boosters at U-High are filled with spirit unequalled by any other booster squad around. Their pep and cheer at all of the sporting events is only equaled by the excellence of U-High's athletic teams. The Boosters attend all home games and many away games. They paint signs for the halls and assist the cheerleaders in decorating for Homecoming. This year the Booster officers assisted the cheerleaders in the Spaghetti Supper at the beginning of the year. The dedication of this year's Boosters was seen by everyone and very much appreciated.

THE "CHEERIEST" OF ALL

ALWAYS IN PERFECT form, the cheerleaders lead everyone in cheering the CUBS to victory.

Becoming a cheerleader is one honor that eight girls did not take for granted this year. Robin Hall and her squad showed the CUBS just how much spirit there was in the student body. Reaching many heights, the Cheerleaders organized the back-to-school Spaghetti Supper, planned pep rallies, cheered at all sporting events, and promoted the school's spirit. The Cheerleaders also supervised the Homecoming decorations in the school's halls. The Cheerleaders also painted the famous graveyard sign that went up every Friday for football games. Continuing a tradition, they passed "spirit bags" to the most spirited students at the pep rallies. These girls have brought a unique kind of spirit to U-High that will be hard to match in years to come.

THOSE LOYAL CUB SUPPORTERS

Becoming a sponsor is a thrill that only meets two girls every year. This past year, Brandli Wiemer and Robin Garland found that thrill and honor. After being selected as sponsor last spring, the two girls were assigned the job of organizing the Spring Sports Banquet, and after successfully completing that task, they began work on the secret formula Quick Kick. Serving the track team in the spring, the football team during summer practice and their fall games, and the basketball teams in the winter, the girls found out the hard job that sponsors perform. The Fall Sports Banquet was the second big job for Boo Boo and Robin which, too, was beautifully planned and executed. Little things like locker notes and pep rally favors kept the sponsors busy between major tasks. These girls have done a fine job.

DURING THE CRITICAL moments of the game, Brandli wonders about the outcome.

ATHLETICS

Every child plays spontaneously first and then, later, learns the satisfaction of structured games: the exuberance of speed and strength; the excitement of pitting skill against daring opponents in contests that ultimately may be decided by chance.

Cameras catch the action from every angle, magnifying its excitement and glory. Never before have so many fans thrilled to the performances of skilled, unique athletes and the drama of the unpredictable, which invests any game.

Coach Willis Stelley found a new home this year at U-High as his football team won nine of their eleven games. The football players were honored this year by being selected to the All-State or All-Parish teams. Players who made the All-State team were Brian Kinchen, Dennis Mann, Paul McJulian, and Mark Ott. Players who made the All-Parish team were Ned Clark, Darryl Hamilton, Brian Kinchen, Dennis Mann, and Paul McJulian. Also making this team was Coach Willis Stelley. U-High was very well represented on the All-District team with over fifteen players making the team. Coach Stelley also was selected as District Coach of the Year. The CUBS won the title of DISTRICT CHAMPS with a record of 8-1. They went to the play-offs and won the first game against Northeast but fell to Sicily Island the next week. Overall, the CUBS had an outstanding season.

THE SEASON

THAT WASN'T

With the undying moral support of Coach Coleman, the Volleyball Team found the light at the end of the tunnel on October 29 when they finished their season at 0-8. With practices beginning in August, the Volleyball Team got off to a slow start and never seemed to find the "groove" to win. Though the team did not win any match, their sportsmanship was true of University High students. All of the players were young, and we look forward to seeing them next August ready to give their opponents a run for their money! Katherine Van Duzee was elected as honorary captain this year, and Donna Abernathy was assistant coach to Coach Coleman. Coach Coleman is building a volleyball team that will one day rival as district and state champs.

DURING A TIME OUT, the team discusses strategy.

YOU'VE COME A LONG WAY, BABY!

Over the past couple of years, girls' sports at U-High were characterized by young teams. But this year's basketball team has made a name for itself. From the dungeons of last place rankings in district standings to a third place finish this year, the girls proved to be a team to notice. Under the leadership of Coach Pam Coleman and Captains Pam Daniel and Germaine Pate, this year's team bounced back from last year's record to a record of wins.

TRACK AND FIELD

Being a track star is a very lonely job. The training is intense but isolated. Track is not like football or basketball in structure. It is basically not a team sport. Unless you are involved in a relay which might involve other team members, you alone are the team. The javelin, the shot put, the mile. These are your opponents.

The picture says it all — track is a lonely sport.

The Cub Staff would like to apologize for not being able to obtain a picture of the girls' track team.

THEY'RE INTO LONG DISTANCES

Under the guidance of Coach Gerald Furr, the Cross Country Team made many new strides this year. U-High placed higher in some meets than ever before.

The dedication of the cross country team was evident by the fact that they were seen jogging all over the LSU Campus during the season. We look forward to having an even better team next year, if that's possible!

SWING INTO ACTION WITH THE TENNIS TEAM

MACKIE VICK, ARE YOU TRYING TO HIT THE BALL, or dodge away from being hit?

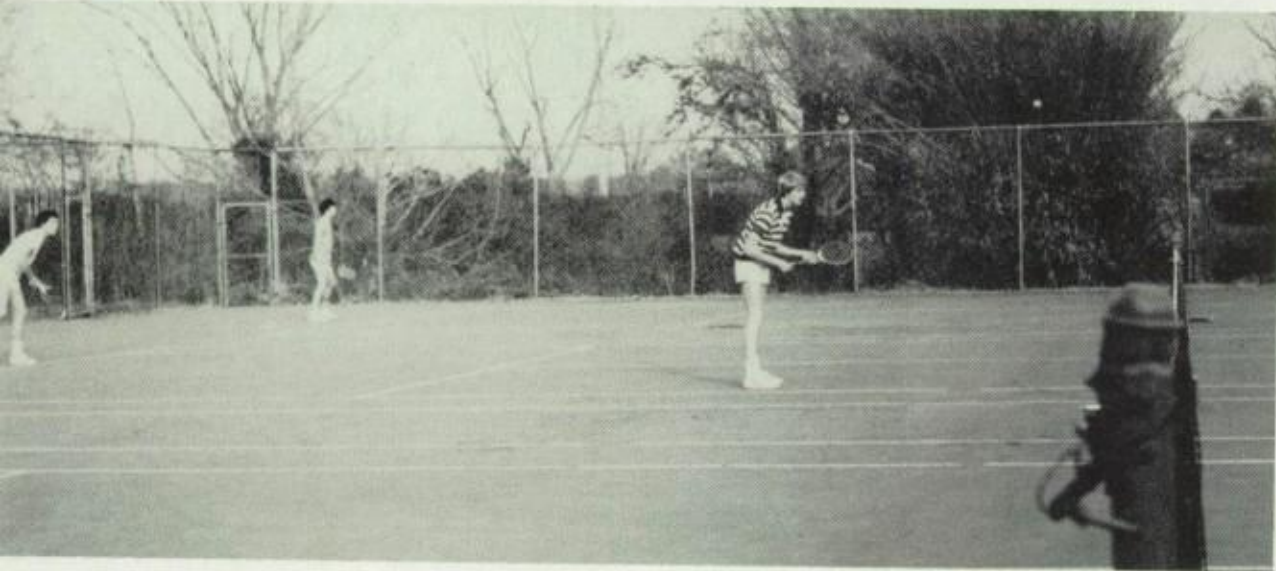

KEITH SERVES A MEAN TOPSPIN, but that's as far as his talent takes him!

The Tennis Team found many new members and lots of wins in the past year. With Ms. Ater as advisor, a few of the team's members went to a special tennis camp offered by LSU. After playing only a few matches, the team proved to all U-High fans that this season was going to be an outstanding one.

FRANK AND DICK already have their strategy planned as the ball comes flying towards them.

JOSH LEAPS AT THE CHANCE to hit the ball.

ADVERTISEMENTS

Sales pitches. They are heard on the radio and watched on television by millions. Companies sell cars, clothes, shaving cream, dog food, cosmetics, and everything else imagined.

Used car salesmen are probably best known for their fast-talking approach, but be fair-warned: U-High's students are making a name for themselves in this world of advertisement. On the next pages you can see all the fast-talking our staff members did.

CLOSING

It took the majority of this past school year to build a group of students into a unique staff of writers, photographers, and artists with journalistic talent, imagination, intelligence – and audacity. Our toil is evident in this, the 41st publication of the CUB, and we hope that our efforts are as appreciated by you the reader as they are by us.

– Ed.

WANTING AMY TO MAKE THE BASKET, Jay and David yell for the seniors at Junior Olympics.

EVERYONE WANTS A's, but only the students who work and deserve them will get them.

"BOY, I SURE AM HUNGRY!" says a seventh grader waiting in line for lunch.

THESE TENTH GRADERS REALLY GO CRAZY for the Cubs.

WHAT THEY WANT . . .

It was also a year of old faces, places, problems, and ideas popping back into the headlines . . .

The Mediterranean fruit fly, destroyer of crops in warm climates, appeared in California, and after much controversy, was fought by aerial spraying of pesticides over residential areas.

In Atlanta, concern over the string of twenty-eight slain black youths was soothed somewhat with the arrest of Wayne Williams. Williams is charged with two of the deaths, and police believe that he may be linked to as many as eighteen others.

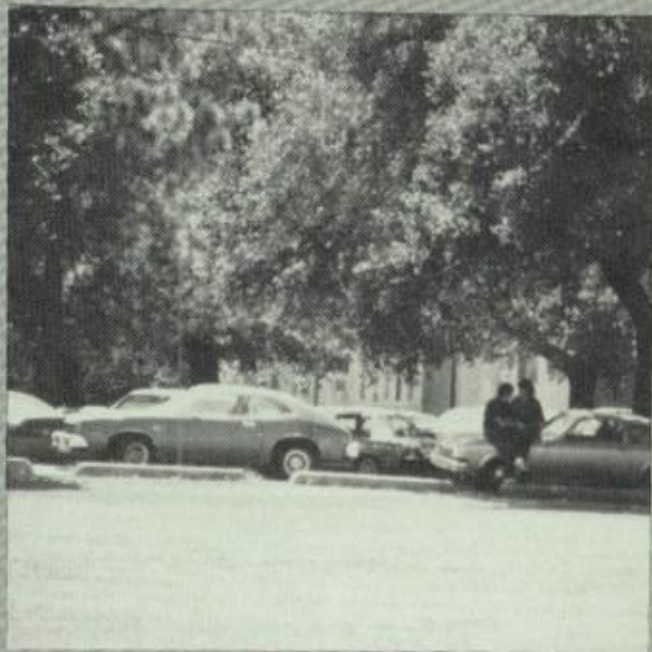

Mick Jagger and the Rolling Stones came back in a big way. The durable rockers — all around age 40 — performed before forty American crowds. Scalpers became rich.

Lee Harvey Oswald's body was exhumed and found to be — Lee Harvey Oswald, laying to rest theories that someone other than Oswald, the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, was buried there.

It was a year of flare-ups in continuing problems . . .

Nuclear power plants were under fire again, notably the Diablo Canyon facility situated on the beautiful northern California coast and near an earthquake fault. Thoughts of the China Syndrome brought out the critics, and 1,496 demonstrators were arrested in September.

In the Middle East, Israel bombed an Iraqi nuclear plant under construction, claiming the plant would be used to develop nuclear weapons. And the U.S. Congress allowed the sale of sophisticated AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia over strenuous Israeli objections.

DESIRING SOME PEACE, a U-Hgih couple steals a moment to be alone.

NO ONE EVER KNOWS what Randy is thinking about. Except maybe Robin.

WHEN SHARON THOUGHT SHE HAD A C, but really had an A, she was ecstatic!

WHAT THEY THINK . .

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher would not yield, and then Irish Republican Army guerrillas died on hunger strikes. Their tactic did focus world attention on the continuing strife in Northern Ireland.

Labor also took some lumps . . .

Relations between organized labor and the White House deteriorated swiftly when the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization launched an illegal strike August 3. Reagan fired 11,500 controllers. In December, Reagan lifted the three-year ban on federal employment for the fired workers, but said they would not be allowed to return to work for the Federal Aviation Association.

America's baseball fans endured two summer months without big league baseball when the Major League Players Association went on strike over free-agent compensation. Secretary of Labor Ray Donovan intervened and a settlement permitted the season to resume with the All-Star game August 10. In all, 714 games were canceled.

Disasters were mercifully few . . .

Concrete walkways in the Hyatt Regency

Hotel in Kansas City collapsed during a dance contest in July, killing 113.

In December, three mine accidents — one each in West Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee — killed 24 miners.

A 25-foot boat packed with Haitian refugees broke up in rough surf October 26 and sank less than a mile from the coast of Florida. Thirty-three people drowned.

One of the worst accidents in naval history occurred May 26 when a jet crashed on the U.S.S. Nimitz, killing 14, injuring 48, and damaging 19 planes aboard the carrier.

More than anything else, 1981 will be remembered most as the year that we saw our worst fears played out in living color.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

By year's end, leaders around the world had increased their protection.

No one was immune from violence.

As violence grew nationally and abroad, Baton Rouge was also aware of the effects of violence. John B. Simonis, the self-admitted ski-masked rapist, was captured, and Baton Rouge women, along with surrounding citizens, breathed a sigh of relief.

WHAT DAINTY THOUGHTS must dance around in Rachel's pretty head.

THIS PICTURE SHOWS what they're not thinking about.

STUDYING ALONE, an unidentified student reviews her thoughts mentally.

A MELANCHOLY MOOD OR THOUGHT? Leigh looks preoccupied.

U-HIGH: UNIQUE

Closer to home . . .

In Louisiana, the public school systems saw two major changes. Ordinances to begin the teaching of creationism and evolution were instituted. This ordinance did not seem to upset citizens as much as the court order issued by Judge John Parker did. In August of 1981 elementary school students were bused to newly-zoned desegregated schools. Secondary school students are to enter the busing program in the fall of 1982.

On the LSU Campus, a new chancellor was greeted. Dr. James Wharton, a chemistry professor, replaced former chancellor Paul Murrill, who left for a position in private industry. The LSU system soon saw many changes. Paul Dietzel, the man who led LSU to a 1958 National Football Championship, was ousted as Athletic Director. Many new appointments for deans of colleges also took place.

And on our campus . . .

The Elementary Building, now in full use, housed the first kindergarten class. The varsity football team was 6-A District Football Champs, with four players making the All-State Team. The choir's second production of a musical was as big a smash as the first.

U-High's students also excelled in academics. Maria Ricapito and Elise Blackwell were named National Merit Finalists, while other seniors received scholarships, awards, and commendations for their achievements. Adelle Lejeune, who received an Honorary Membership in the National Honor Society, was a first at U-High. Adelle was part of a mainstreaming project in which visually impaired students went to public school for part of the school day.

These are just some of the events of the 1981-82 school year. It is our hope that these will spark other memories in your mind and that you will enjoy reminiscing.

A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

Since I was in the ninth grade, I have always wanted to become editor of the school's yearbook. In the spring of my junior year, I was asked if I would accept this large responsibility. Thrilled to death, I did. But the realization of the labor an editor did was not apparent to me until I became involved in a yearbook camp this past summer. It was then that I began to realize the responsibility and "job" that I had accepted.

Because of the many activities always going on, it seemed inevitable not to make a mistake. I would like to apologize to all junior varsity teams, football and basketball statisticians, football filmers, football captains, and basketball scorekeepers for neglecting to cover you in the yearbook. I hope that I have included everyone now!

There are many (countless) people I must thank for their support of me this year. I offer my sincere thanks to the following: Ken Armstrong, a photographer for the State-Times and Morning Advocate, who allowed the staff to use three pictures which he took for the newspaper; Jack Luckett, who took our group activity pictures; Faimon Roberts, who assisted our staff photographers in the school's darkroom; John Musemeche, who took all of our athletic and my division pictures; Dr. Daigle and Dr. Fox, who allowed students to be dismissed from class for all sorts of yearbook activities; Mae Mackey, who guided the staff with the business end of the yearbook; teachers, who were very understanding when I interrupted their classes and asked for students to leave class; all of my photographers, who were at times uncontrollable, but learned to please this cranky editor; all of my staff members who stayed with me and worked hard until the end; my parents, who had to hear all of my complaints and had to put up with my sassy disposition (especially in January and February); but above all to Mrs. Exner, who was in a word — sensational. She helped me to realize that it is not the end of the world when you miss deadlines, pictures, etc. Without her help, this book would have been 100 times harder to edit.

Everyone's understanding and loyalty to me and the yearbook will not be forgotten. My only hope is that everyone will be pleased with the yearbook. It is for you — ENJOY!
